WE NOMINATE

James Andrew Arnold Jr., one of this country's most perceptive tax analysts and a Princetonian since 1938, who has taken time out—as administrative consultant to New Jersey's Tax Division—to prepare a survey that should become “must reading” for “Town Fathers” everywhere in New Jersey. The gist of his newly published analysis is that, as long as resistance to broad-based taxes blooms in this state, the owners of residential properties can expect to pay more and more to underwrite the costs of ever-increasing government services.

In his far-reaching study of New Jersey's tax structure, released over the weekend and written expressly for Saturday's 13th annual gathering of the delegates to the 1947 State Constitutional Convention here at the Princeton Inn, the 47-year old Arnold reports that in 1959 nearly two-thirds of all state and local taxes in New Jersey came from local property-owners. This amount, staggering to some observers, was supplemented by public utility and other state tax resources for local use, boosting spending at the municipal level to over 71 per cent of the state's tax income, not including state funds appropriated for local purposes.

At a time when all municipalities are vociferating about assessment problems, it is Arnold's finding that “residential property taxes are the largest and most rapidly growing source of tax revenue and there is no reason to expect any significant change in this trend under the present tax structure.” In fact, local property taxes, residential and business, are “not only maintaining their dominant position within the tax structure but they are increasing at a faster rate than non-property taxes” an understandable development in a state that has nourished the tradition of maintaining a carefully restricted tax base.

Although Arnold's 83-page report, reminiscent of the studies he prepared during his 21 years as a member of Princeton surveys, the University's State and Local Government Section, concludes that New Jersey has no tax measure within its present family taxes capable of absorbing any appreciable shift from local property taxes, it does not paint a totally bleak picture. For instance, it notes that while the average local property tax bill jumped from $62 in 1940 to $132 last year the average per capita income climbed from $822 to $2,611 and that real estate taxes “appear to be less of a burden upon the economy of 1959 than they were in 1940.”

A native of Holcomb, Missouri, whose “border-state family” contributed representatives to both North and South during the War Between the States, Arnold has lived here “longer than I have lived anywhere else.” Just before he entered high school, his family moved westward to Vona, Colo., and the fall of 1931 found him at Colorado College. The depression of the 1930's temporarily interfered with his education. He abandoned pre-medical studies, acquired a lasting interest in statistics, married a native of Alabama and returned to the Colorado campus to earn his B.A. and M.A. in 1936 and 1937. Eighteen months in Washington with the National Resources Committee preceded his move here.

For his magnificent courage in refusing to bow to a crippling handicap that has made a wheelchair necessary since 1941; for his contributions to the science, or art, of government; for raising questions to which public officials must find the right answers; he is Town Topics' nominee for Princeton

This Is PRINCETON

SHE WAS NO LADY
Donna, an Unwelcome Guest.
The U. S. Weather Bureau's penchant for identifying hurricanes with girls' names (possibly because the "he-he" gives the storm a feminine characteristic) never falls to backfire when the uninvited visitor finally arrives.

Cruising cooly through Caribbean waters in leisurely manner, frequently drifting in an open fashion designed to woo front-page headline writers, she changes her mind over what course she will pursue as only a woman can. On arrival, however, her outward appearance is a dull, unpeppering grey; her vocal effects vary from a smothered roar to a weird whistle, followed on locals; and the effect of her presence, in terms of damage from Florida to Maine, has been defined as a billion-dollar pun.

Donna came to the Princeton area Monday, as she did to countless other small and large communities the length of the Atlantic seaboard. In the space of about three hours between 11 A.M. and 2 P.M.—she leveled scores of trees, downed dozens of power and telephone lines, damaged homes and automobiles, but fortunately caused no injuries. With a barometric pressure of 28.7, she claimed credit for the lowest hurricane reading on record here and passed into history as a big sister to Carol, Hazel and Diane.

of 1954 and '55 fame. Only the hurricanes of November, 1950, and September, 1938, were bigger.

Meteorologist David M. Ludlum reported gusts in the Princeton area that were "at least higher." Rainfall on Monday to-aled 4.51 inches, and well over six for the 48-hour period ending Monday midnight. In Blair-town, football coach Dick Colman took one look at the Tigers' inundated practice field and ordered buses to bring his squad back to Princeton five days ahead of schedule.

Narrow Escapes Reported. If there were no injuries, there were a few narrow escapes. Falling limbs, trees and power lines narrowly missed pedestrians and automobiles throughout the community.

On Nassau Street a small convertible halted by a crossing guard at St. Paul's School was smacked by a large branch that hit the rear seat, pinning the driver until he could be extricated by police. Once free, he hustled off without bothering to give his name.

Another unidentified motorist ignored the high-water barriers on Quaker Road, became stuck in a muddy current that eddied around the door handles on his car. Rescued in waist-high water, he became Donna's most embarrased victim in this area.

Power failures dotted the entire area, Public Service estimating 13,200 for the County but saying no specific figures for the Princeton community. Crews worked virtually round the clock but at mid-week, some homes were still without electricity.
Freezer losses were numerous,
offset in some degree by added sleep for TV viewers. ("I went to bed at 10 Monday night," one video veteran reported, "and felt better the next day than I had in months.")

Main thoroughfares blocked by fallen trees and wires included
Harrison, the Great Road, State Road 206 (where a road crew moved out in a hurry when the big one began crashing with considerable rapidity); Mercer, University Place and Alexander (where live wires burned a six-inch gash in the asphalt.) Victory Road School went for two days without electricity, kindergarten children stayed for a full session

Instead of a half-day and Borough school cafeteria worked overtime feeding those who normally go home for lunch. Home-room mothers manned telephones to advise parents that the emergency was being easily met.

On Washington Road bridge about 11 Monday afternoon, a four-car chain accident was reported: Guido Sandri, 30, Washington Road, and Ralph Kloppenstein, 37, Province Line Road, had stopped their cars while the road ahead was being cleared of fallen trees. Frank Foti, 60, Woodstock, Va., struck Mr. Kloppenstein's car, whereupon Lewis Leder, 40, 68 Mountain Avenue, drove into Mr. Foti's car, shoving him into Mr. Kloppenstein's car a second time. No injuries.

Borough Police Headquarters (outside of which Chief Raymond Mondone's own car sustained about $150 damages from a falling timber) reported close to 300 telephone calls from storm-affected residents. It had been five years between Donna's visit and Hazel's unwell-temperance of these past Tuesday morning, but it was apparent that the Reading had gained a number of permanent patrons as a result of the strike...making the rounds last week was an anonymous libel that "the Quill is mightier than the Pen"....next commuters' hazard: a possible strike of ferry boats in the New York area, which might require reading commuters' bound for downtown New York to use the Pennsy.

ROUND-UP

Hundreds of commuters and other Princetonians went back to the Pennsylvania Railroad Tuesday morning, but it was apparent that the Reading had gained a number of permanent patrons as a result of the strike...making the rounds last week was an anonymous libel that "the Quill is mightier than the Pen"....next commuters' hazard: a possible strike of ferry boats in the New York area, which might require reading commuters' bound for downtown New York to use the Pennsy.

Democratic Presidential candidate John F. Kennedy will make a brief stop at "Marven" on early Thursday afternoon, with no public appearance planned...he will stop at Gov. Meyner's residence about 2:30 en route to Trenton, coming here from New Brunswick via Route 1, Washington Road and Nassau Street...his Trenton address (from the steps of the State House) is set for 4 o'clock.

Mail delivery from the Princeton Post Office will be extended Saturday to include the new Route 206 Center, opposite Princeton Airport, the result of joint efforts of Assistant Postmaster Samuel Copner and R. L. Lenhart of the Chamber of Commerce...voter registration may be made daily at Borough and Township Halls from 9 to 5, as well as the next two Saturdays from 9 to 12 noon at Township Hall...evening hours (7 to 9) will also be in effect at Township Hall from September 26-29 and at Borough Hall on September 28 and 29...in Plainsboro, registration may be made in the evening at the home of Township Clerk J. E. Wyckoff and on Thursday, September 22, from 7 to 9 P. M. at Town Hall.

Miss Florence Diggs, 34, of Canal Road reported to Borough police the loss of $45 in the so-called "pigeon drop" game last week. Invited by a stranger to share in the proceeds of a wallet reportedly found in her presence while she was waiting for a bus at Palmer Square, she parted with all the money in her possession as "evidence of good faith" toward a share in a fictitious $400,000. Elijah H. Jones, 47, 323 Witherspoon Street has been held without bail for action by the Grand Jury on a charge of forging the name of Mrs. Rosalia Vener of the same address to a Government check...Miss Miriam Carlson, 19, 285 Riverside Drive received minor injuries Sunday when struck by a car on Nassau Street operated by an out-of-town driver...she was treated at Princeton Hospital and released.

EDUCATING THE PUBLIC

Township Booklet Available. Township Committee announced Tuesday night publication of the first edition of a semi-annual booklet which will inform Township residents about the work—both public and executive—done by Township Committee. Copies are available without charge at Township Hall and the Public Library.

In a resolution suggested by Committeeman John Mount and introduced by Committeeman Stanley C. Smoyer, Committee has directed that a plaque be placed in Township Hall honoring the memory of Patrolman Billie D. Ellis who was drowned five years ago in the flooded Millstone River attempting to rescue two 15-year-old boys.

The ordinance to pave White Pine Lane was passed, as amended, following a brief, second public hearing. The present amended ordinance omits the controversial curbs and brings the cost of paving to about $300 more than the $7,932 which the Township has from the bonding company. Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman suggested to White Pine residents that they determine how to divide the $300 among themselves and avoid the $125 assessment fee.

Dr. Peter Putnam, Roper Road, and Dr. Frank Notestein, also of Roper Road, told Committee again that the Planning Board had assured Roper Road residents that they would not be assessed for White Pine. Two White Pine residents offered to absorb Dr. Putnam's and Dr. Notestein's share if they were assessed.

Committee also passed the ordinance to construct a sewer pumping station, force main and laterals near the Rosedale Road bridge over Stony Brook to serve Brookstone. Mayor Fairman pointed out that the cost of construction would be met by the Township rather than by property owners because about 300-400 lots would benefit.

The Brookstone-Fairway sewer ordinance was also passed. The new sewer, its pumping station and force main will be completed in November, according to James Breth, Township engineer.

Danford Hagadorn from the Princeton Police Department was announced at Tuesday's Council meeting by Commissioner Dan D. Coyle. Mr. Hagadorn, a member of the force for the past decade, will enter private business.

The resignation of Detective George F. Knowles, who had served the department for 25 years, was announced last month. Commissioner Coyle said that names of replacements will be submitted at Council's next meeting, set for September 26, and added that merit salary increase for two members of the department will be recommended at that time.

In other business, Council accepted a bid of $6445 from an out-of-town firm for constructing sidewalks on Hamilton Avenue from Harrison Street North to Chestnut. Application for $20,000 in state aid was made to and received 90 percent of the cost of paving Walnut Lane near Princeton High School, with the Borough and Township sharing the remainder equally.

Due to circumstances beyond our control the "back door" entrance to The King's Court adjacent to the parking lot on Palmer Square East is being closed.

To our many friends and patrons, we want to say that we, too, feel sorry about this inconvenience and we wish to remind you that there is ample parking space on the public lot bounded by Witherspoon and Wiggins Streets, which is only a step away from our FRONT DOOR.

To those Princetonians who normally used our "back door" as a walk-through from Palmer Square to Witherspoon Street, we also wish to express our regrets.

To those persons who have not used our FRONT or BACK door, we extend a cordial invitation to visit The King's Court soon, where you'll find BEEF at its very best, charcoal broiled to your most exacting order over our open hearth.

come to McCarter Theatre on October 2 as the first C-K Production offering of the season. C-K will also present, on subsequent occasions, Elna Lancaster and Jose Greco, who are being offered on a series basis by the C-K entrepreneurs. No tickets will be sold for single productions until all series orders are filled. For the Holloway show, individual tickets will go on sale September 19.

C-K has planned its productions around the theme of individual talent, individually displayed and with the exception of Jose Greco and his troupe, the performers will appear in one-man shows. Tickets for this first series (C-K plans a second series later in the year) may be obtained at the University Store.

BRUBECK COMING BACK

To Play October 1. Dave Brubeck's Quartet, featuring Paul Desmond, will play on Saturday, October 1, at 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall. Returning to Princeton under the auspices of the Princeton Entertainment Bureau, the jazz pianist will appear as the first of five shows planned by the student agency.

The Princeton Entertainment Bureau was formed by the Bureau of Student Aid at Princeton Theatre's Center for the Performing Arts. Tickets for the Brubeck appearance may be obtained at the Princeton University Store or by writing Box 591, Princeton. Prices are $2.25, $2.95 and $3.50.

THE PLAYHOUSE

It started in Naples (Sept. 14-20) has much to offer and its only too bad that more hasn't been done with potentially excellent ingredients. On the plus side there's Sophia Loren (who has a number of assets herself) and much Mediterranean scenery. Unfortunately, these have been combined with Clark Gable and a young Italian delinquent in a plot which doesn't even merit the title.

Miss Loren, as a night club singer, leads Gable through Rome, Naples and Capri. Obviously, Gable's interest in the Italian beauty stems from the fact that a nine-year old imp, Marietto, happens to be the product of an affair between Miss Loren's sister and Gable's brother. While McCARTER PERFORMER: Comedian Stan Holloway is booked for an October 30 appearance here.

Miss Loren displays her talents (which, incidentally, do not include singing) and Gable plays the part of a rather mean and not very appealing American tourist, Marietto tries to entertain the audience with his version of American slang and exhibitions of smoking and drinking.

Actually, "It Started in Naples" is an attempt by the writer-producer-director team of Mel Shavelson and Jack Rose to reproduce something along the lines of "Houseboat." In this they are assisted by a musical score by Alessandro Cicognini and Carlo Savina, VistaVision and Technicolor. Luckily, Miss Loren manages to overcome the limitations imposed by this crew to produce a movie that is definitely easy on the eyes.

High Time (Sept. 21-27) presents Bing Crosby in the improbable role of a college freshman thrown in with even less probable companions, such as Tuesday Weld and Fabian. The attempt to meet the opening of the school year with some college hi-jinks is little more than burlesque.

It all starts when sell-made millionaire Crosby decides he should get a college education. He could be like other older people and simply attend courses, but no, he has to do it all the way—living in a dormitory, pledging a fraternity and all. Fabian is one of Crosby's roommates and Miss Weld is just a friend of the group. (One assumes the two of them have been planted by the script writers in appeal to the present college-going or almost-college-going age groups, which doesn't say much for that generation.) In the course of the film's 103 minutes, the Old Grouper proves that he's still pretty agile, especially where French teacher Nicole Maurey is concerned; Fabian shows that his head of hair is about his only asset; and Tuesday Weld reveals how young she really is when compared to the more mature Miss Maurey.

This fanciful view of a college life is produced by Charles Brackett and directed by Blake Edwards. It is in CinemaScope and color.

THE GARDEN

Sons and Lovers (Sept. 14-17), coinciding as it does with the arrival of University freshmen on the Princeton scene, comes to town at a particularly opportune time.

"Sons and Lovers" is the tale of a boy's inability to free himself from his mother's influence as he enters into manhood. The central character, as portrayed by Dean Stockwell, comes easily to be a Princeton undergraduate.

IT'S NEW To Us

FOR TROUBLED TEENS

New Cream at Thorne's, Helena Rubenstein has put out a new kit, now available at the Thorne Pharmacy, for adolescents who are troubled by skin acne. It has been shrewdly packaged in a straightforward manner so that even boys and young men can buy and use it without feeling uncomfortable.

The kit consists of three medicated preparations, to be used in sequence morning and night. If you do not have a clearer complexion as the result, you will get your money back.

First you wash your face with Bio-Chanser, which is so connected that it inhibits the growth of bacteria. Then you use the medicated pore lotion, applying it with particular diligence to oily areas.

Finally you use Bio-Clear Cream on the acne pimples themselves. This cream contains "organic sulphides" which help the pimples to dry up and shrink away. Kit is $2.95.

Matchabelli welcomes the season with "Golden Autumn," a collection of unguents to make you feel as fresh and turned-out and golden as an autumn day. There's a bubbling bath oil, dusting powder, spray mist cologne, regular cologne and skin sachet.

Did we skip any? We particularly like the round flat bottle of bubbling bath oil because the Prince has colored the oil a deep gold that makes it look like fine Scotch.

Jacqueline Cochran offers you a pre-Christmas present: it's Flowing Velvet, plus Flowing Velvet Eye Cream and Flowing Velvet Joy of Bathing—a $7 value for $5, or in smaller size, a $5 value for $3.

Matchabelli has an eye for a bargain, too. He presents Stradivari perfume in a $6.75 package for $3.75, or a $4 bottle for $2.50. In addition, there is Matchabelli's "Beloved" in the $4 size for $2.50.

ABSTRACT, ON FILM

Davis Prints for Sale. James Davis, whose abstract motion picture films have won awards from international film festivals for the past eleven years, has stopped the projector for a moment to capture seven different frames from his film, "Light Reflections." These colored abstract photographs have been mounted and matted with white and are now offered for sale in the print department at The Princeton University Store on University Place.

The prints are impossible to describe, of course. They are fluid movements—and even in a still photograph the sense of

A Little Goes A Long Way

Faithful readers of this column will recall that we have always been fascinated by the descriptive literature that the cosmetic people put out. Can't beat it for laughs.

The newest seems to be based on the word "polysaturate"—an etymological hash if we ever saw one. Whether the cosmeticians got it from the chemists or made it up themselves, we have no idea, but it's the thing for fall, girls, and we found it twice in new creams at Thorne's.

Matchabelli not only has a polysaturate face cream ("for that 21-dexal look") but he has a polysaturate name for it: "Polyderm." Why any woman would want many skins is a mystery to us, but there you are.

DuBarry's contribution is Creme Paradox, which contains, besides the polysaturates, both placentine and panthenol. But no hormones. This cream, by the way, and its Matchabelli competitor, are said to do as much as anything to make your skin look as though you were 21. The idea is to replace natural oils as much as possible. DuBarry does it with a very sheer cream and a very sheer slogan designed for the millions of DuBarry customers who speak French but not English: "un peu fait beaucoup."

movement is inescapable—of color and a gelatinous kind of form. The ones that have a black background seem to reflect the farthest reaches of interplanetary space, and the ones that are compressed and confined within the frame without a background express the artist's sliding for space and time and the fluidity of matter.

Mr. Davis, who operates out of 39 Nassau Street, is best known —Continued on Page 8

News Of The Theatres

To come up with this relatively faithful screen rendition of the D. H. Lawrence novel, producer Jerry Wald chose a predominantly English cast, filmed the movie in the Midlands of England and lifted much of Lawrence's dialogue in its entirety. Although it must be admitted that something more than this straight forward approach is needed to reproduce on the screen what Lawrence did in prose in several instances, the overall result is an engaging, sensitive work.

Trevor Howard and Wendy Hiller appear as Stockwell's parents, while Mary Ure and Heather Sears are the two women in his life, the former as the sensual Clara whom Stockwell cannot satisfy and the latter as the younger Miriam who cannot satisfy Stockwell. All but Stockwell are British, and all but Stockwell do superior jobs of acting. Directed by Jack Cardiff, a converted cameraman, with script by Gavin Lambert and T.E.B. Clarke, "Lions and Lovers" is in CinemaScope. Recommended.

for his work with experimental films, like the one from which these stills are taken, but he also acquired a considerable reputation for his mobiles and constructions. He does not reveal his techniques for making these abstract-colored films, but presumably he sets in motion some of his translucent plastic constructions and then photographs them as they reflect colored light.

The art critic Aline B. Stein, writing of Mr. Davis' work, says that his films "reflect the challenging intonations of modern science, the searches into space and energy and changing matter. He suggests those concepts with which science is changing our Euclidean and Newtonian understanding of the world... making their reference to life through science rather than through the images of man and nature."

The University Store offers Mr. Davis' pictures at $15 each. There are seven different ones, each 4 1/2 x 6 1/2 inches, unmatte, all of which they are sold, as we said above, with a white mat to give what Mr. Davis calls "breathing space."

DRIP-DIY TO DRAPERIES
 At Fabric Shop. Women who enjoy sewing may choose fabric and pattern and go to work, and women who enjoy the products of professional sewing may choose fabric and then say, "Now, you do it." Either way, The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street will be well pleased.

The "Now, you do it" applies particularly to the new fall drapery samples which have arrived on Chambers Street in such profuse display that we can only say, "Go in and take a look." After you've made your choice, the skilled needlewomen at the shop will make draperies for you and you won't have to do a thing except put hook to rod.

For women who like to say "I made it myself," the shop has reams and bolts of warp and wool. For school, there are drip-dry cottons in deep tomato red, olive brown, or steel blue decorated with little white flower-pots in a ticking that looks like cross-stitch. There are 36-inch fabrics, $1.29 a yard.

Seven different quilted prints have seven different cotton prints to match, for skirt and blouse combinations. The quilted ones, with solid fabric backing, are $2.19 a yard and the matching prints are $1.19. You'll find dark greens and plums, a brown paisley and a red calico and an old-fashioned print with skulls imprinted all over it.

Corduroy comes in almost as many prints as the cottons. You'll look twice at the big paisley done in swirls of blue, purple and green and again in black and white, if you'd rather be stark than luminous.

A blanket plaid in corduroy—yes, in corduroy—is big, homey squares of red and navy and a houndstooth in corduroy is olive and black. (This is a big print, by the way.) A rust corduroy has deep blue miniature medallions on its surface, and a mate in ruby has a lighter blue.

On the grey flannel side, the Fabric Shop has every shade that ever walked Madison Avenue. And besides—purples and blues, lilacs and royals, all the greens from kelly to olive and every member of the brown family. Some are flannels, others are washable wools. There's even a lilac basketweave.

Flannellettes in cotton will make any pair of small pajamas into something very special. Try that red and white candy stripe for an old-fashioned nightgown, size four. Or the white with sturdy shields embossed in regular rows. That one's for brother.

Blue pincheck gingham flannel is a pleasant change from the usual print, but the floral prints are here, too. And solid colors in flannellette start with yellow and go through pale green, pale pink, pale blue and end up with white.

YMCA TO BEGIN FALL

With Swimming Group. The first activity of the Princeton YMCA for the fall term will be the organization of the "Flying Fish Club," a competitive swimming group. Sixty boys and girls are expected to turn out for the initial time trials this week.

The Flying Fish Club will go into its second year with plans for competition which include entering both and boys' and girls' team in the YMCA Swim League. Dual swim meets are also on the club calendar.

According to George W. Good, president of the club's steering committee, new swimmers from age eight and up will be accepted into the club to fill graduation vacancies. New applicants will be required to meet club standards of swim ability, interest and enthusiasm. They may apply to Walter Sorg at the Y office for tryout appointments.

LOSIS LICENSE

For Drunk Driving. After pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving, Oscar May, 40, of 43 Clay Street was fined $225 and had his license revoked for two years, the mandatory sentence for such an offense, Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. presided. In another traffic case Mrs. B.W. Glassman, 31, of 77 Randall Road, was fined $20 for a stop sign violation. She pleaded not guilty.

WILL STUDY AFRICA

WILPF Plans Year's Program. The Princeton chapter of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will study Africa, this year. Entitled "Africa's Year for Freedom," the year-long program will be directed by Mrs. Paul Smith. An organizational meeting is scheduled for Tuesday at 8:15 P.M., at the home of Mrs. Leo R. Draftfield, 81 Harris Road. Edward R. Morrow's documentary film on the dark continent will be shown, and discussion of the year's program will follow the film.

MOBILE UNIT DUE

For Voter Registration. The mobile registration unit will arrive in Princeton next week. On Tuesday, the unit will be located at the Valley Road School from 5:30 to 8:30 P.M. It will stop, during the same hours, at the Harrison Street Firehouse in the Borough on Wednesday. Assemblyman Edward J. Sweeney, head of the Princeton Democratic Club's Registration —Continued on Page 13

ROLL CALL WEEK SET
At Princeton Y. The week of September 9 has been designated Y-Teen Roll Call Week in conjunction with YWCA fall registration. This is the time when high school girls in the Princeton area are given a chance to learn what the YWCA has to offer.

On Wednesday September 21, teenagers are invited to the YW for a special Roll Call meeting. Refreshments will be served at 3:30, and a half-hour later Mrs. Georgine Hall, Director of the YW's teenage program, will explain the Y-Teen club and answer questions.
Sarah Gripper and Betsy Ma-

an, Princeton's Y-Teen representatives to the Y-Teen summer conference at Sarah Lawrence College, will speak about new program ideas and their work at the conference. On Thursday, September 22, teenage girls interested in the program of the Y-Teen club are invited to a cook-out on Carnegie Lake. Girls wishing to make reservations for the cook-out may contact Mrs. Hall at WA 4-4826.

BACK WORKERS IN PRR STRIKE: One way to prevent crippling railroad shutdowns, says John Perna (left) is to pay the workers more. Robert O'Neal, on the other hand, says more workers' benefits and not more money is the answer. For other strike-preventing solutions proffered by area residents, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: In view of the widespread public inconvenience caused by the Pennsylvania Railroad strike, what steps would you favor to prevent repetition of such shutdowns?
Where asked? Around town.

Mrs. Felix Oppenheim, State Road, housewife: I feel that the only way you can avert such a shutdown, on what is essentially a public conveyance, is to have some sort of federal supervision to take over in case mediation fails on a private level—without the feeling that the company has been "sweized."

John Perna, Jr., 25 Greenview Avenue, taxi driver: I would increase the wages of the railroad workers so that they wouldn't be forced to strike. This strike is interfering with our business; people keep calling us to take them to bus stops which prevents us from taking care of our regular business.

Robert O'Neal, 19 Green Street, taxi driver: One way you can't stop such strikes is by giving the men higher wages. There is nothing to prevent them from going out on strike again—the more money people get the more they want. I think the strike could be prevented by giving the railroad workers more benefits in the form of better retirement plans, more insurance, better contracts and better working conditions. I also think the companies were wrong and invited the strike by giving out railroad contracts to outside firms.

Mrs. Helma Bush, 391 Nassau Street, owner of the Nassau Camp for Girls, Deer Isle, Maine: Make available other means of public transportation so people wouldn't be dependent on trains. I personally think a bus is the nicest way to travel. Up in Maine, they have eliminated passenger train service entirely.

Edward S. Corwin, 487 Stockton Road, retired Princeton University professor: There ought to be a system of arbitration, the use of which is compulsory.

Miss Elizabeth Fayville, Somerville, teacher: I'd give more money to the railroad — some sort of government subsidy — to help them along a bit. The railroads have always been very accommodating.

Jesse L. Terry, Rosedale Road, chairman of a public utilities company: I think it is up to the President to take over. Everything possible has been done to solve the strike. It is much like the steel strike a few years back when Truman took over the mills until the strike was settled. You can't keep on inconveniencing the public with this type of labor dictatorship, which is what it amounts to.

Mrs. Vernon Boushell, 23 Linden Lane, housewife: Perhaps a reorganization of the rules and regulations of the railroad union's by-laws might better insure the future security of the workers and help prevent future strikes.

William Davis, Hopewell, Princeton postal clerk: I'd have the President intervene and, just as long as he got results, I wouldn't care what methods he used.

Miss Alice King, Abernathy Drive, Trenton, housewife: Sometimes when you have a deadlock, personalities have brought things to a standstill. I would suggest changing the present top negotiators for each side. The result might be a little more understanding and more compromising.

Charles F. Cos, chemist, here from Charleston, W. Va. on business, who was forced to take a cab from Newark Airport to Princeton: Seems to me that they could start serious negotiations earlier before waiting until it is too late.

Richard Collins, Princeton Junction, advertising manager: Prior to a strike, both sides should be forced to attend a period of compulsory arbitration.

Mrs. Kathleen Blumenfeld, 40 Linden Lane, photographer: I'd double the bus service and make most of them express runs.

Garrison M. Ellis, 49 Wilton Street, teacher: More executive initiative to prevent such strikes by the president and the governors of the states involved.

Miss Charlotte O'Brien, Harlin gen. student at Overlook Academy: Since the railroads can't make enough money to keep the commuter trains in operation, I think the government should nationalize the railroads.

Otto Grundler, Belle Mead, graduate student, Princeton Theological Seminary: It seems to me that labor is not taking into consideration sufficiently the fact that over the last few years the railroads have been facing a constant plight, that they are not withholding any profits from labor, but have been engaged in an uphill battle to make any profit at all. I don't know what could be done unless labor can be convinced it cannot, in all fairness, ask any more from the railroad companies.

G. W. Silvester, 50 Princeton Avenue, retired: I would like to see the power of the labor union bosses curbed. I think they have acquired too much power. The unions should have some ability to strike if companies are too adamant—I don't believe in taking away the rights of labor entirely—but control of labor by its bosses is emphatically needed.

AS GOOD AS NEW: Mr. and Mrs. "Pete" Hurley of Lafayette Avenue, Hopewell, examine an outgrown school dress brought in by a member of the Hopewell Women's Club as part of the stock of the Hurley's Nearly New Shop. The Club suggested the project to the Hurleys and has started things rolling by contributing clothing, but the Shop welcomes garments from anyone interested in re-selling good clothes—and helping a worthy project. #### CLUB SPONSORS SHOP

To Help Polio Victims. Ever since J. Arthur "Pete" Hurley was stricken with polio eight years ago, his neighbors in Hopewell have been on the alert for ways to help him, his wife and their three children in their courageous struggle against the odds.

At the suggestion of The Hopewell Women's Club, the Hurleys have now decided to open The Nearly New Shop in their home on Lafayette Avenue in Hopewell. Two members of the Club, Mrs. Frederick Hoadley and Mrs. Merlin Smith, suggested this project to Mrs. Hurley as an addition to the greeting-card and gift shop which she already runs in the front part of her house.

The Nearly New Shop will take cleaned or laundered used clothing (only laid and winter clothing now, of course) and offer it for sale at the price named by the donor. The Shop will keep half of the sale price and the donor will receive half.

"We'll take anything except shoes and hats," Mrs. Hurley says. "I hope women will bring in costume jewelry, handbags and accessories, too, because that's the sort of thing that we always can resell. And of course now is the perfect time for good, outgrown women clothing for either boys or girls and for outgrown ice-skates and winter boots."

Mrs. Hurley plans to keep her new shop open from 10 to 5:30 Tuesdays through Saturdays, starting next week. She will be closed Mondays. Clothing may be left at the Hurley's home before next Tuesday and after that, on the days that the shop is open.

VACANCY EXISTS

In Borough Police Force. The retirement of Detective George J. Knowles has created a vacancy on the Borough police force. Applications for the opening should be sent to Chief of Police Raymond A. Mondone, Borough Hall.

Applicants must be between 21 and 30 years old and have lived in Mercer County for two years. Starting salary is $4,020, increasing to $5,880 after five years.

"Y" ANNOUNCES PROGRAM

For Pre-Teens. Girls in the first through eighth grades may choose their after-school and Saturday activities from a new list announced by the YWCA Pre-Teen Program this week. Mrs. Georgine Hall will conduct three Creative Theatre Workshops for boys and girls, first through sixth grade. Mrs. Mimi Kagan will teach modern dancing to girls four and one-half to nine years of age, and instructors in swimming, games, crafts, folk dancing and tumbling will offer their services to the Girls Wee Club, designed for girls in first through third grade.

A new Saturday afternoon club for girls in fourth through sixth grades will give its members a chance to bake, sew, swim and participate in sports. Trips to Valley Forge, the Museum of Natural History in New York, and so on, will also be part of the curriculum.

Other activities include arts and crafts (first through fourth grades), bowling (seventh and eighth grades) social dancing and co-ed social recreation (seventh and eighth grades). Full information is available at the YWCA, WA 4-8225.

TALL TALE

About a Squash. A squash grown by Antonio Petrone of 500 Princeton - Kingston Road has reached the usual length of 46 inches and is still growing. It is a full two feet longer and nine inches larger in circumference than an ordinary squash of this type.

Mr. Petrone, who came to the United States in 1902 and who recently retired after driving a truck for the Princeton Borough Street Department for 40 years, said he has no idea what size it will eventually reach. It is the biggest he has ever grown.

ROCK GARDENS TOPIC

Of Garden Club Meeting. William J. Ing will discuss rock gardens and dry walls at a meeting of the Dogwood Garden Club of Princeton this Thursday at 1 at the home of Mrs. John N. Kenyon of 336 State Road. Mr. Ing did landscaping for 21 years at Kew Gardens and Hampton Court in England.

The Club has the following new officers: Mrs. Charles G. Whitney, president; Mrs. Thomas Johnson, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Weldon W. Young, second vice-president; Mrs. Douglas Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Holsinger, treasurer; and Mrs. Clinton Clement, recording secretary.

KING SIZE: Two-and-one-half-year-old Glenn Petrone stands beside the 46-inch squash grown by his grandfather, Antonio Petrone, of 500 Princeton - Kingston Road.

MAGAZINE PLANNED

By Princeton Resident. A magazine intended as a political weapon called the "Abolitionist" will be published at Swarthmore College this fall by Blake Smith of Drakes Corner Farm. Mr. Smith, a sophomore at Swarthmore, plans to have the magazine distributed at smaller eastern colleges such as Haverford, Middlebury, Oberlin, Reed, Swarthmore, Antioch and Bryn Mawr.

According to Mr. Smith, the magazine will be composed of letters written by students to "men of influence." "When the senior, governor or schoolboard chairman addressed by the student sees a letter, which he may earlier have ignored, printed in a magazine read by several thousand college students, he will have to consider its contents," the 1959 Princeton High School graduate explained.

Mr. Smith was inspired to start the "Abolitionist" while attending the University of Michigan this summer. He has received the backing of a number of student groups for the venture.

NURSERY OPEN AGAIN

At YWCA. The nursery at the YWCA will again be open for pre-school children whose mothers are participating in classes and activities at the "Y." The nursery will open September 28, and will be available every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for a token fee.

Mrs. Fernand Baruch will again be in charge of the two-to-five year-old group and Mrs. Harold A. Davis will supervise the baby nursery, where mothers may leave babies who are over six months old.

While children are in the nursery, mothers may take classes in swimming, painting, sewing, cooking, tennis, bowling, "slim-nastics" and the new "Big Living" lecture series. The nursery

Report from THE MAYOR

Wind and Rain: The fury of Monday's visit from hurricane Donna lasted only a few hours, but it will take Princeton many, many years to replace some of the fine trees broken and uprooted in every section of town. By early Monday evening the sun was shining in a bright blue sky, but hundreds of local residents were walking or driving cautiously about the battered streets to witness the storm's devastation. Alert Borough crews were fast at work to remove hazards, to repair damage, and to begin the arduous clean-up of the storm's debris. The hardworking staff of local utilities should also be commended for the brisk pace at which they set about the restoration of electric and telephone service. A community that takes great pride in the beauty of its great trees and shrubs accepts regrettably the cold fact that the town has lost some of its resources which had been a growing part of the Princeton scene for scores of years.

Clean-Up Week: Just last week the Council had approved the suggestion of borough staff that the second week of October be designated as a Clean-Up Week, timed to coincide with Fire Prevention Week. No one realized then that the great Princeton outdoors would need such a much earlier tidying-up.

Last spring's Clean-Up Week proclamation, largely the result of some creative work by Princeton's Bill Airey, has now been designated in the August issue of Public Works magazine. As a result, requests to use the proclamation in other towns have been coming in — the first from the Business and Professional Women's Club of Decatur, Georgia. Naturally, we're proud to have other town's interested in Princeton's efforts.

After Five Years. Another request for information about a Princeton practice came this week from Salt Lake City, Utah. Mrs. Robert M. Christensen, a member of Mayor Lee's Advisory Committee on City Planning and Capital Improvements, sent eight questions about our telephone Fire and Emergency Reporting system. The Mayor was happy to have Borough Clerk prepare the enthusiastic reply; for it was Bob Mooney's suggestion that led to the installation of the system here just five years ago this month.

Perhaps we should not say so too loudly for fear of breaking the record; but it is a fact that before the phone boxes were installed, 50 to 75 percent of all alarms were false alarms. We have not had a false alarm in the Borough during the past five years.

Borough Clerk Mooney's draft of the suggested reply to Salt Lake City summed up a page of positive comment with the phrase "As you probably have guessed, we are quite proud of our system."

A Heavy Schedule: Last week's calendar was a particularly heavy one for the Mayor: the agenda session of the Council; an important meeting of the Planning Board, at which we received a lot of additional homework from our consultant planner; the annual Labor Day outing of Princeton Engine Company No. 1; an opportunity to speak to the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council; testimony in Newark at the ABC hearing, along with the Borough

Clerk and Councilmen Coyle and Walker; and welcoming as well as participating in the two-day meeting of the National Young Adult Committee of the YMCA.

Tell It To The Mayor! The regular weekly open house will be held on Thursday, September 15, and Thursday, September 22, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

An apology is due to those of last week's visitors who found it impossible to wait during a busy evening. They will have first call at this week's session.

Topics Of The Town

The Princeton High School PTA is again sponsoring a magazine subscription drive to raise funds for scholarships for college-bound PHS seniors. This year's drive will begin Thursday.

Orders for any magazine subscription may be placed by calling Mrs. M. J. Schultz of 30 Harriet Drive, WA 4-1386. Orders are taken any time during the present academic year.

FUND DRIVE OPENED

By Planned Parenthood. The Planned Parenthood Committee of Princeton this week opened its local fund-raising drive. Because of its increasing services to the community, the group this year is seeking $8,500.

This total will aid in maintaining its office headquarters at 180 Nassau Street, and in supporting its clinic. The funds will also be directed to the committee's work in its Education for Marriage courses and its efforts among the families of migrant workers.

Sponsors of the 1960 campaign are Dean and Mrs. J. Douglas Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Butler, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chauncy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Conger, Mrs. Walter E. Edge and Dean and Mrs. Ernest Gordon.

Also: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald B. Leisner, Dr. and Mrs. James J. McCord, Mr. and Mrs. Brunson S. McCutchen, Dr. and Mrs. Donald M. Meisel, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Muir, Jr., Dr. Jeanette Munro, the Rev. and Mrs. Charles G. Newberry, Dr. and Mrs. Colin B. Pittendrigh and Mrs. A. N. Spindel.

GARDEN MARKET SET

For Friday Morning. The weekly market, sponsored by the Garden Club of Princeton for the benefit of welfare work here, will be held Friday morning from 9 to 11:30. Mrs. H. Russell Butler will be in charge of the "French Market" this week.

The affair will be held on the island formed by the junction of Nassau and Mercer Streets, opposite TOWN TOPICS. Each week the Garden Club offers a variety of farm and garden produce for sale. This week's market will offer apples and kittens, as well as the usual cut flowers and plants.

REVISED HOURS LISTED

By Lawrenceville Library. The fall and winter hours for the Lawrenceville Community Library have been announced by Mrs. Daniel A. Longhi, Chairman. The library is now located in the Meeting Room of the Lawrenceville Volunteer Fire Company on Phillips Avenue.

Starting Thursday, it will be open Mondays and Thursdays from 2:45 to 3:45 and Tuesday evenings from 8 to 9. Sponsored by the Lawrenceville PTA, the library is available to all Lawrenceville Township residents.

Police Praised.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Just a comment on the exemplary manner in which the Township police conducted themselves at the recent tragic accident on Mercer Road.

I was particularly impressed with their quiet manner and their poise and confidence which must, I feel, be an enviable, have been a comfort to those concerned.

JANET McCLUSKEY

"Bettletide Farm"

Police Condemned.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Several years ago I addressed myself to you on the subject of the paucity of means of public transportation to and from the Pennsylvania Railroad. Last week, of course, the problem was solved by shutting down the railroad.

Heortened by this example of what the endeavors of a public-minded citizen can bring about, I venture to call your attention to a sad abuse perpetrated with great success upon the unwary car-owner who leaves his vehicle on Nassau Street. The abuse in question appears in the form of an ecru paper, tastefully edged in pale blue and entitled, all in caps, SUMMONS.

At approximately 11:38 this morning, by making full use of Ford power steering and two adjoining parking spaces, I laboriously deposited my station wagon in front of a meter upon which were registered several unused minutes. Scorning to take advantage of a fellow being's untimely departure, I deposited not one but two pennies before starting off, on foot, for my various destinations: the library, the knitting store, and the music shop.

When, crowned with the flush of success which can only come from such blows of fate as (1) the book was not in the stacks;

(2) the dye lot of the wool of my choice was not on hand in sufficient quantities for my purposes; (3) the record without which my small son will be unable to get through the next 24-hours of his existence is not sold in Princeton; I returned, it was to discover that both Divine and municipal justice were working against me. The time given on the summons was 12:05. I had overstayed my welcome by about three minutes.

I saw no sign of the agent of my destruction. However, I picture him possessed if not of the cloak of invisibility, at least of a rather sneaky nature. How else could he have timed his popping out on the scene to coincide with my own momentary dereliction of financial obligations?

I would like to point out that if the street is regularly patrolled it cannot have failed to be obvious that my violation was neither flagrant nor deliberate. The white station wagon was not parked there for the day. And I was not trying to save myself the additional expenditure of one cent.

Surely the purpose of the law is not to penalize drivers for tardiness, but rather to insure a steady turn over to give each new comer a chance to station his car legally against the curb. I advocate a little patience for the dreamers of this world whose heads do not tick inside like parking meters. Nevertheless, in view of the fact that Justice is not only blind, but like most women hates to be contradicted, I am sulkily preparing to pay my fine.

THE SEEING EYE

Art, Photography Center to Open. The photography and art center, combining gallery, school and store, will open Saturday at 100 Nassau Street in the space formerly occupied by Nills Bakery.

To fulfill its aim, which is to stimulate interest in art and photography among all age groups, the Center will incorporate a display gallery and a workshop, into its retail sales space. Exhibitions of paintings and photographs will be displayed in "Gallery 100," the first show to be announced next week.

There is a modern darkroom for those who take courses in photographic techniques, and a workshop which will be used for sketching and painting classes. A teaching staff of three photographers and two artists will be announced when registration begins in October.

Owners of the Photography and Art Center are John C. Borden Jr., of Princeton and Sol Libsohn of Roseland. A graduate of Yale and of the New York School of Photography, Mr. Borden was formerly sales manager of a Trenton manufacturing concern and director of a New York textile company.

Mr. Libsohn, assistant professor of photography at the Philadelphia Museum College of Art, has been a free-lance photographer for 20 years. His work was displayed in the "Family of Man" exhibit at the Museum of Modern Art.

To introduce the shop and the gallery, an Open House will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4

PREPARING FOR SATURDAY'S OPENING: Sol Libsohn (left) and John C. Borden Jr., owners of the Photography and Art Center which will open this weekend at 100 Nassau Street.

P.M. Refreshments will be served. One roll of black and white film per person will be developed and printed without charge from Saturday, through Monday, September 26.

NEW BUILDING PLANNED

Adjoining Thompson Building. A new two-story office or shop building encompassing 6,000 square feet of space will be built this fall adjoining 186 Nassau on the west. W. Bryce Thompson IV, who owns 195 Nassau, will build the new structure, which will be 13 feet wide and 50 feet deep. Dana Stetson, 10 Nassau Street, is the architect.

Mr. Stetson has designed a traditional building in Colonial style to be built out of old brick. Facing Nassau Street will be a basement shop, and space on ground and second floors for either an office or a shop.

In the rear, the new building will have six 12 by 20 foot office or store units facing the eight units of Thompson Court. The entire building will be air-conditioned. Within the court will be parking space for 30 cars.

Mr. Thompson plans to begin construction in mid-October. Bids are out, but a contractor has not yet been selected. It is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy by spring.

SHOP WILL EXPAND

Into Adjoining Space. Edith's Corset and Lingerie Shop at 10 Chambers Street has signed a lease with Edmund Cook and Company for the premises at 8 Chambers Street formerly occupied by The Black Lantern.

The entire wall connecting the two stores will be ripped out and the resulting space will be about twice the size of the present lingerie shop. Mrs. Edith Zuckerman, owner of Edith's, plans to divide her stock so that lingerie will be in the new, or "Black Lantern" half of the shop, and corsets and girdles in the present quarters. She also plans to have four fitting rooms instead of the present two, and she will gain two display windows on Chambers Street.

A native of Hungary, Mrs. Zuckerman was graduated from a school of corsetry in Vienna where she learned designing, fitting, pattern making and the construction of surgical corsets. She opened the shop at 10 Chambers Street on February 15, 1956.

COMMITTEE FORMED

For Chamber of Commerce. A new committee, formed to promote stronger ties between merchants and customers, to attract regional shoppers to Princeton and to stimulate expansion of the Princeton market has been formed by the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

The new committee, to be known as the Steering Committee of the Retail Division Committee of the Chamber, will be led by F. J. Worthington, manager of the Princeton University Store. Committee members are Murray Abelson (Allen's Children's Center), Meyer Goldstein (Viedts Chocolate Shop), Richard A. Katen (Home Decor), Samuel M. King (LaVague-Reid Jewelers), Leonard LaPlaca (Nassau Interiors), Eric P. Mhan (The English Shop), Chester A. Page, Jr. (C. Page, Inc.) and Arthur B. Yard, (The Rug Mart).

TRIES JOINS CENTER

As Hardware Specialist. Herbert Tries, 30 Park Place, has joined The Building Center at Princeton Junction as specialist in hardware. Formerly manager of The Wright Store in Princeton, Mr. Tries has also worked for Post Lumber and Supply in Norwalk and for Channel Lumber in Newark.

Mr. Tries has specialized in power tools, hardware supplies and the general range of hand tools.

TWO LEASE SHOP

At Building Center. Michael Tamasi of Princeton and Alfred Kovach of North Brunswick have leased the Milwork shop at The Building Center and will run a complete cabinet and woodworking shop as "Aimee Kitchens". Mr. Tamasi has had many years of cabinet and carpentry work in Princeton and Mr. Kovach has been associated with Nassau Cabinets in New Brunswick.

TIGERS TAKE SHAPE

Sophomore at quarterback. For the third time in the last 15 years, Princeton is expected to open a new football season with a sophomore at quarterback. To those whose patience and vision is based on something more substantial than week-to-week evaluations, this is good news indeed.

The new heir to the field general's throne is 18-year old John Henrich, who brings two valuable assets to the important position. At 202 pounds and 6 feet, 1 inch, he is extremely well built to serve as a blocking back, and to double as a linebacker on defense. At the Nichols School in Buffalo, where he prepared for Princeton, he played single wing football—a real rarity in an era when well over 80 percent of the nation's schoolboys are taught some version of the T.

If he succeeds in filling the arduous assignment, Henrich will join George Chandler and John Spoch at quarterbacks who broke into the starting lineup at the outset of their varsity careers and—save for a brief injury in Spoch's senior year—started in the position for all of their 27 games. Needless to say, that degree of continuity at the spot which dictates all offensive strategy increases steadily in value as time wears on.

It is also worth pointing out that that experience at this position can be costly at the outset, but obviously an inexperienced sophomore with good potential is a better long-range bet than a green but promising senior. With no skilled hand at the helm last fall, the Tigers scored but six points in losing to Rutgers and Pennsylvania.

starting assignment at right end, the job has gone to another first-year man on the varsity, 19-year old Dan Phillips. Six-two, he weighs 183 and has good speed.

Actually, both Henrich and Phillips are tabbed for starting positions because of an almost complete dearth of experienced material ahead of them. Senior Bill Marr, who might have been the regular quarterback, is out for the season with a knee injury, leaving only another rarely-used senior, Jon Hagstrom, in the running.

At right end, senior Bill McKenzie has dropped off the squad, leaving this flank so exposed as far as varsity holdovers are concerned that another sophomore, 6-3 Dennis Keller, is Phillips' probable replacement. With letterman Jim Blair the only player who has seen steady action at left end, Princeton is likely to encounter periodic defensive difficulties at the flank positions while the season is still young.

A personnel switch in the interior of the line has been effected to strengthen it, and hopes are now that the Tigers will go into the campaign with better material at tackle and guard than they have in a number of years. Stan Baldwin, a 203-lb. senior who held down a regular berth at guard last fall, has been switched to tackle, and will pair with John Craig.

This moves Matt Tobriner, a reserve guard in 1959, into a starting slot for the upcoming season, with the veteran Stan Shaughnessy in the other guard—Continued on Page 25 position. Reserve strength at both tackle and guard is considered satisfactory, with several big but wholly inexperienced sophomore tackles waiting in the wings.

At center, 196-lb. Jerry Sullivan has the job nailed down and is giving a good account of himself at Blaisdorn. Hopes are that senior Dick Eckfeldt and sophomore Bill Wright will develop fast enough to spell Sullivan as needed, but if the burly Kent School alumnus is slowed by injuries as he was last fall, the Tigers could be in for real trouble.

Rest of Backfield Set. Flanking sophomore John Henrich at quarterback will be three veterans rounding out their careers as seniors. Mike Iseman, who has missed much action with injuries in the past two seasons, is the choice at wingback.

Captain Don Kornrumpf is a big threat at fullback, after having served for two seasons in a reserve capacity behind Fred Tiley and Mike Ippolito. Billed as what the trade calls a "hard-nose," Kornrumpf hits with as much power as any back in the league.

At tailback, it will be Hugh Scott, who learned his football in a hurry two years ago when both Dan Sachs and Jack Sullivan were injured in the same afternoon against Penn. A tripe-threat who completed better than half his passes last year (18 for 30), Scott will also handle the Tigers' punting assignments.

Despite the somewhat pessimistic predictions being made over their inability to leave the Ivy League's second division, there is an air of quiet satisfaction in the Blaisdorn camp. This is not to say that the team and coaches rate themselves an even bet to win the 1960 title; rather, it is based on the fine condition in which the players reported, the lack of injuries that often hobble a pre-season training program and the high morale that pervades training headquarters.

In the first ten days after Blaisdorn, several players have been singled out for praise by Dick Colman. These include Kornrumpf and Iseman, the latter with an 80-yard pass interception good for a touchdown to his credit in Saturday's intrasquad scrimmage; Jerry Sullivan at center; and John Craig, who figures to become a real stand-out at tackle but regrettably is in his last year of eligibility because he is a transfer from Oklahoma.

Reserve guard Ed Weiheismayer has made rapid progress, which is credited with the ability to move Stan Baldwin from that position to tackle. Weiheismayer, a sturdy 155-lb. operative, will spell Matt Tobriner.

Also worth watching when the season opens will be Dan Ter-

LONELY END: Jim Blair is the only returning letterman the Tigers have at end this season.

pack, a sophomore wingback. Only 5-9 and 165, he huns extremely well, qualifies as a left-handed passer and plays a solid game on defense.

SOFTBALL SEASON ENDS

With All-Star Doubleheader. All-Star teams in the traditional doubleheader which ends the softball season split on Saturday. In games played at Marquand Park, the girl all-stars defeated the Thorne's, 12 to 5, after which champion Plainsboro edged their all-star opposition in 12 innings, 2 to 1.

Russ Watson was the winning pitcher for Plainsboro, hurling eight fine innings after taking over from Butch Chambers in the fourth. Joe Fisher of Green Gables and Lou DiMeglio of Sannino's divided the pitching duties for the losers. John Swanhart, Plainsboro first baseman, singled in the last of the 12th to drive in the winning run.

TIME IS OUT OF JOINT

For FHS Football Squad. With the season's opener against Peddie less than two weeks away, Joe Jingoli, head football coach at Princeton High School, finds himself wishing that the axiom that time wait for no one had one exception: developing football teams. By a week from Saturday, Jingoli and his coaching staff must find the answers to some all important questions.

The first, and perhaps most crucial question, is unfortunately out of Jingoli's hands. Will the injuries to three key returning lettermen hold in time for the kickoff against Peddie? Top scorer for the Blue and White last year with eight touchdowns, co-captain Russ Perone, who has been moved from wingback to the demanding tailback slot, injured his ankle on the second play of the team's first scrimmage against New Brunswick Saturday morning. If Russ' in-

Jury is slow in healing, it could spell disaster to PHS fortunes this season, as the diminutive speedster has been slated to do the bulk of the running and passing in the varied Little Tiger offense.

Also sidelined with leg injuries are Ray Chubb, starting quarterback, and end Joe Beachel. Another veteran end, Jim Barber, has not come out this year and so, of 11 returning lettermen, Jingoli, at the moment, has the service of only seven.

Another question: Can the green players, especially in the line, develop fast enough in the short time remaining? The pressure feeling of defensive coaches Jerry Groninger and George Poviliatic was that the line this year would be "faster but lighter." This feeling has now been modified somewhat following the New Brunswick scrimmage.

45 In Uniform. From one of the larger PHS squads in years —85 suited up, not counting freshmen—Groninger and Poviliatic have detected some heavier boys, as yet unidentified by them, who have shown promise and may be called upon to add beef to the defensive line. While offensive line coach Dick Wood can rely on the use of such experienced linemen as co-captain Dave Smith, Harvey Clark and Lamont Fletcher, these boys were used primarily on defense last season.

"We looked a little ragged against New Brunswick," Wood said, "primarily because we had been practicing against a six-man line and they used a seven. But, on the average, for this early in the season, I was pleased. Our first 12 men did well and if we keep the same pace, we'll be ready for Peddie."

Passing is another aspect of the Little Tigers game that is yet to be evaluated. Jingoli admitted. Gone is Jack Hawkins, top aerial artist for PHS for the past three years, who completed 30 passes in one game against Hamilton as a sophomore.

"You don't develop passers like Hawkins in one year," Jingoli said, "and with Perone out, our passing against New Brunswick was poor." In the type of offense employed by PHS, a couple of good tailbacks are essential to make the offense go.

Wood, Gould Look Good. There were a number of breakable bright spots in the first scrimmage. Howard Gould, returning 200-lb. fullback, looked impressive in his plunges into line. Robert Sauter, filling in for the injured Perone, turned in some fine open field runs for yardage in the tailback position. The son of Coach Wood, shone as a capable pass receiver, while the play of Lamont Fletcher as defensive safety man drew praise from Jingoli.

In recapping the results of the first scrimmage, Jingoli commented that for "this early in the year we couldn't expect more. We are beginning from scratch and we know that we have a lot of work ahead of us. We expect the boys to improve."

How much can be done by the 21st? Time alone will tell.

Brennall, Barbara Decker, Andre Italy, and Barbara Hoff.

The following won third-place awards: John Pettit, Billy Pettit, Ted Soja, Marshall Stitt, Bobby Earnest, Sam McClery, Bill Bartolino, Larry Butterfoss, Rob Cohen, Bill Harley, Kathy Hoff, Diane Hally, Debbie Hober, Kathy Cherry, Susan Schantz, Nina Norris, Penny Pettit, and Linda McDonough.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

At New Trinity Chapel, The Princeton community is invited to attend an Open House to be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at All Saints Chapel, the new Trinity Episcopal parish off Snowden Lane. The cornerstone chapel on Van Dyke Road off of the Chapel will be laid with ceremony at 11:30 a.m. and the first services will be held this Sunday at 8:15 and 11 a.m. under the Rev. Charles G. Newbery, Vicar.

The new Chapel is an integral part of Trinity Parish, and the church building and the surrounding grounds remain the parochial seat. Within All Saints there are seats for 240 persons and space for 540 school students in two sessions. Adams and Woodbridge was the architectural firm and John McShain, Inc., the builder.

IT'S THE NEW YEAR

At Jewish Centers. The joyous and solemn occasion of the New Year will be celebrated at the Princeton Jewish Center beginning at sundown next Wednesday, September 21. The holiday, marked by prayers of repentance and dedication, is observed by traditional Jews for two days and by Liberal Jews for one day. During the New Year's services, the Shofar, or ram's horn, is sounded to arouse the congregation to repentance and prayer. At the Princeton Jewish Center, Sydney Coleman of Brooklyn, New York, will chant the service and Rabbi Anton Krauss will deliver the sermons.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Princeton Church Youth Council will sponsor a full day's program this Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Rodgers-Carrington, Seminary student, will speak on a survey he is making of Princeton youth and Mrs. Elia Schrank will discuss the UNICEF program. A dance will be held Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church. All teenagers are invited to the day's program. The cost, including the dance, is 75 cents.

There will be a food sale at the First Baptist Church at 10 a.m. this Saturday. Orders for pies, rolls and cakes may be made in advance by calling WA 4-1780.

Where's My Church?

September brings with it new students, new residents of the Princeton community and people with renewed resolutions to attend church more frequently.

Some of these factors in mind, Town Topics includes this week the address of the church and the name of the pastors of all churches in Princeton and the surrounding area. This information will be carried through September.

Those who would like to make personal contact with a church before attending or registering for Sunday School are reminded that the telephone listing is under the minister's name.

MOVED
We have moved in the world by moving down, and have moved ahead by moving to the top. You see, we started on the second floor, but business got so good we moved our office to the front office on the first floor; but now progress, i.e., renting our office to a real office—another tenant—made itself has forced us to move to a real office building. Our son, Conrad, I hope the added convenience of parking in front of our door will make up for the confusion of trying to figure out where we are located. Thompson Realty.
